Editorial Complaints Policy

Cedar Communications Limited is a content marketing agency that believes in the highest standards in journalistic integrity. One of our core values as a business is an accurate and ethical approach to all of our work.

Where you believe you may have found an instance where you do not believe that we have lived up to those journalistic standards, there is a procedure to follow to notify us.

What does the complaints policy cover?

- This policy and procedure only applies to complaints about editorial content in our publications and digital services that we control in the UK, Channel Islands and Isle of Man.
- Cedar Communications Ltd in the UK is regulated by the Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO), and we comply with IPSO's Editors' Code of Practice. Only complaints that fall within the Editors' Code of Practice can be made directly to IPSO. If your complaint does fall within the Editors' Code, you can contact Cedar to seek a resolution, or get advice via IPSO. If your issue is NOT covered by the Editors' Code of Practice, you can contact editorial staff of the individual publication or website to state your concerns, using the contact details in the print publication's contents pages or the Contact Us link on the relevant website's homepage.
- Complaints within four months after print publication, or one year after first online publication.

It does not cover:

- any complaint that falls outside the remit of the Independent Press Standards Organisation's Code of Practice (IPSO) (<http://www.ipso.co.uk>)
- complaints about TV and radio services (regulated by Ofcom)
- complaints about advertising (regulated by the Advertising Standards Authority);
- concerns about matters of taste / decency and due impartiality;
- complaints about books;
- complaints about 'user generated content' (i.e. material on our digital services e.g websites or apps that was not posted by us or on our behalf) which we have not reviewed or moderated;
- complaints that are trivial, misconceived, hypothetical, repetitious or otherwise vexatious

How to complain:

- please fill in the editorial complaints form found on the Cedar website. If you prefer a paper version of the editorial complaints form, please write to Compliance Director, Cedar Communications Ltd, Bankside 3, 90-100 Southwark Street, London SE1 0SW and you will be sent a Complaints Form together with a copy of our Complaints Policy and Procedure. Please also use this address if you do not have the facilities to upload material and you wish to conduct this complaint in paper form
- When making your complaint, you must include:
  - a copy of the article in question, or a link to the relevant webpage or a web address, if the complaint is about published material (or reference to the publication title, issue date, page and article title if a copy is unavailable);

- a written explanation of your concerns with reference to the Editors' Code;
- any other documents that will help us assess your complaint.
- The complaints process is free of charge, irrespective of the outcome of your complaint.

What happens to your complaint?

- All complaints will be acknowledged within 5 working days of receipt.
- We will deal promptly with complaints, and may request further information from you to enable us to investigate your complaint – we would ask that you also respond promptly.
- Once full details have been established, we aim to resolve within 28 days any complaint brought under the IPSO Editors' Code of Practice.
- If we believe that no breach of the Editors' Code is involved, we will tell you.
- We will always treat you respectfully, and would ask the same from you.

What if I am still unhappy?

- If we fail to resolve such a complaint to your satisfaction within this time, you may refer the matter to IPSO. IPSO offers a complaints handling procedure to the public in cases when there is a disagreement between a complainant and Cedar about whether there has been a breach to the Editor's Code (at no charge). IPSO will ask Cedar to confirm that our complaints procedure has been exhausted in such situations.
